

PROSPECTUS
OF THE DAILY AGE.

THE Publishers of THE AGE promise to let a Daily Paper during the next session of the Legislature, (provided a sufficient number of subscribers can be procured,) to contain a report of the proceedings and debates in both branches, together with the news of the day, a synopsis of the proceedings of Congress, and the usual quantity of editorial matter.

The price of the Daily Age will be ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS for the subscription, and to those of our regular subscribers who do not discontinue the weekly paper, ONE DOLLAR and Twenty Five Cents.

Any person procuring six subscribers and remitting the amount of their subscription, shall be entitled to a seventh copy gratis.

We earnestly desire that the names of all subscribers may be forwarded to us by the 25th of December. The price of any additional ones from abroad must be paid by the first of January, or some person known to us, becomes responsible therefor.

In case sufficient encouragement is not afforded for a daily paper, we will publish one three times a week, at $1 for the session, or seven copies for $6, provided subscribers enough can be obtained to pay the necessary expenses.

If any forward money for the daily, and a thrice weekly paper only about to be published, the latter will be forwarded and the amount of money returned by the Representatives from the several towns.

Augusta, Nov. 27, 1837.

Maine Daily Journal.

We have been informed by letters from various parts of the State to issue proposals for publishing a Daily paper during the ensuing session of the Legislature. The session will be of unusual interest, the parties being nearly balanced in strength, though the Whigs will unquestionably have the ascendancy in the State government.

It is our opinion that a daily paper, for the session, has not generally paid the expense of publication. The price was put too low in the first place, and it has been easy to raise it and satisfy the public. We began a small daily in 1832 at $1 per session. Finding in subsequent years that we had money by it, we tried a tri-weekly. This paid but poorly, as we were obliged to keep the same number of reporters, and print the same quantity of matter without any of the advertising points which sustain daily papers in large towns. Yet we have found that we published only the weekly. But something more is to be expected, and we have therefore issued proposals for a daily paper at $1.50 in advance for the session. This will in reality be no more than our original price, as the sessions are now about 40 percent longer than they were seven years ago.

Those who are already subscribers to the weekly and continue to take it while taking the Daily will be charged $1.25. A person can receive seven copies and pay for them, will be able to give one to a friend for his services, and for a greater number he will be allowed in the same ratio.

The list of names sent to us in single letters, and come to the session of the Legislature when they

We shall have pretty full, and we hope accurate reports of Legislative proceedings, and of the daily proceedings of CONGRESS.

AUGUSTA, NOV. 1, 1837.

RODNEY CHAFFIN, of Buckfield, in said County, Housewright, respectfully shows that on the 29th day of June, 1837, he made a contract in writing with John Taylor of said Buckfield, Gardiner, a proprietor of land, for the erecting of a dwelling house for said Taylor, to be situated on said Taylor's land in said Buckfield, near the dwelling house of Nathan Atwood, and for furnishing labor and materials for the same, that pursuant to said contract, said Chaffin did erect and complete said house, so far as by said contract was intended for him to do; and furnished labor and materials, etc., as by said contract he had agreed to do; and that he has duly recorded in the Registry of Deeds for said County, etc., for such cases as provided; by all which said Chaffin has built on said dwelling house and the lot of land on which the same stands, to secure the payment of his charges and expenses for labor and materials thus arising, amounting in the whole to two hundred and ninety-five dollars and interest thereon. Be therefore pray your Honors to order a sale of said land with the said house and appurtenances as by law provided, and that his said claim be paid out of the proceeds thereof.
